1. Session Cookie Not Marked as Secure

HIGH

CONFIRMED

Netsparker identified a session cookie not marked as secure, and transmitted over HTTPS.

This means the cookie could potentially be stolen by an attacker who can successfully intercept the traffic, following a successful man-in-the-middle attack.

It is important to note that Netsparker inferred from the its name that the cookie in question is session related.

Impact

This cookie will be transmitted over a HTTP connection, therefore an attacker might intercept it and hijack a victim's session. If the attacker can carry out a man-in-the-middle attack, he/she can force the victim to make an HTTP request to your website in order to steal the cookie.

Actions to Take

1. See the remedy for solution.
2. Mark all cookies used within the application as secure. (If the cookie is not related to authentication or does not carry any personal information, you do not have to mark it as secure.)

Remedy

Mark all cookies used within the application as secure.

Required Skills for Successful Exploitation

To exploit this issue, the attacker needs to be able to intercept traffic. This generally requires local access to the web server or to the victim's network. Attackers need to understand layer 2 and have gained access to a system between the victim and the web server.

Remedy

Ideally, after fixing the errors and warnings, you should consider adding your domain to the the HSTS preload list. This will ensure that browsers automatically connect your website by using HTTPS, actively preventing users from visiting your site using HTTP. Since this list is hardcoded in users' browsers, it will enable HSTS even before they visit your page for the first time, eliminating the need for Trust On First Use (TOFU) with its associated risks and disadvantages. Unless you fix the errors and warnings your website won't meet the conditions required to enter the browser's preload list.

Browser vendors declared:

- Serve a valid certificate
- If you are listening on port 80, redirect all domains from HTTP to HTTPS on the same host. Serve all subdomains over HTTPS:
 - In particular, you must support HTTPS for the www subdomain if a DNS record for that subdomain exists
- Serve an HSTS header on the base domain for HTTPS requests:
 - The max-age must be at least 31536000 seconds (1 year)
 - The includeSubDomains directive must be specified
 - The preload directive must be specified
 - If you are serving an additional redirect from your HTTPS site, that redirect must have the HSTS header (rather than the page it redirects to)

3. Out-of-date Version (jQuery)

MEDIUM  11

Netsparker identified the target web site is using jQuery and detected that it is out of date.

Impact

Since this is an old version of the software, it may be vulnerable to attacks.

jquery Cross-Site Scripting (XSS) Vulnerability

jQuery before 3.4.0, as used in Drupal, Backdrop CMS, and other products, mishandles `jQuery.extend(true, {}, ...)` because of Object.prototype pollution. If an unsanitized source object contained an enumerable `__proto__` property, it could extend the native Object.prototype.

4. Weak Ciphers Enabled

Netsparker detected that weak ciphers are enabled during secure communication (SSL).
You should allow only strong ciphers on your web server to protect secure communication with your visitors.

Impact

Attackers might decrypt SSL traffic between your server and your visitors.

Vulnerabilities

4.1. <https://www.myndr.nl/>
CONFIRMED

List of Supported Weak Ciphers

- TLS_DHE_RSA_WITH_AES_256_CBC_SHA256 (0x006B)
- TLS_DHE_RSA_WITH_AES_256_CBC_SHA (0x0039)
- TLS_ECDHE_RSA_WITH_AES_256_CBC_SHA384 (0xC028)

[NETSPARKER] SSL Connection

Actions to Take

1. For Apache, you should modify the SSLCipherSuite directive in the httpd.conf.

SSLCipherSuite HIGH:MEDIUM:!MD5:!RC4

2. Lighttpd:

ssl.honor-cipher-order = "enable"
ssl.cipher-list = "EECDH+AESGCM:EDH+AESGCM"

3. For Microsoft IIS, you should make some changes to the system registry. Incorrectly editing the registry may severely damage your system. Before making changes to the registry, you should back up any valued data on your computer.

a. Click Start, click Run, type regedt32 or type regedit, and then click OK.

b. In Registry Editor, locate the following registry key: HKLM\SYSTEM\CurrentControlSet\Control\SecurityProviders

c. Set "Enabled" DWORD to "0x0" for the following registry keys:

SCHANNEL\Ciphers\DES 56/56
SCHANNEL\Ciphers\RC4 64/128
SCHANNEL\Ciphers\RC4 40/128
SCHANNEL\Ciphers\RC2 56/128
SCHANNEL\Ciphers\RC2 40/128
SCHANNEL\Ciphers\NULL
SCHANNEL\Hashes\MD5

Remedy

Configure your web server to disallow using weak ciphers.

5. [Possible] Cross-site Request Forgery

LOW

11

Netsparker identified a possible Cross-Site Request Forgery.

CSRF is a very common vulnerability. It's an attack which forces a user to execute unwanted actions on a web application in which the user is currently authenticated.

Impact

Depending on the application, an attacker can mount any of the actions that can be done by the user such as adding a user, modifying content, deleting data. All the functionality that's available to the victim can be used by the attacker. Only exception to this rule is a page that requires extra information that only the legitimate user can know (such as user's password).

Remedy

- Send additional information in each HTTP request that can be used to determine whether the request came from an authorized source. This "validation token" should be hard to guess for attacker who does not already have access to the user's account. If a request is missing a validation token or the token does not match the expected value, the server should reject the request.

- If you are posting form in ajax request, custom HTTP headers can be used to prevent CSRF because the browser prevents sites from sending custom HTTP headers to another site but allows sites to send custom HTTP headers to themselves using XMLHttpRequest.
 - For native XMLHttpRequest (XHR) object in JavaScript; xhr = new XMLHttpRequest();

xhr.setRequestHeader('custom-header', 'valueNULL');

For JQuery, if you want to add a custom header (or set of headers) to

a. individual request

$.ajax({ url: 'foo/bar',
  headers: { 'x-my-custom-header': 'some value' }
});

b. every request

$.ajaxSetup({
  headers: { 'x-my-custom-header': 'some value' }
});
OR $.ajaxSetup({ beforeSend: function(xhr) {
    xhr.setRequestHeader('x-my-custom-header', 'some value');
});

6. [Possible] Internal IP Address Disclosure

LOW

11

Netsparker identified a Possible Internal IP Address Disclosure in the page.

It was not determined if the IP address was that of the system itself or that of an internal network.

Impact

There is no direct impact; however, this information can help an attacker identify other vulnerabilities or help during the exploitation of other identified vulnerabilities.

Remedy

First, ensure this is not a false positive. Due to the nature of the issue, Netsparker could not confirm that this IP address was actually the real internal IP address of the target web server or internal network. If it is, consider removing it.

7. [Possible] Phishing by Navigating Browser Tabs

LOW

11

Netsparker identified possible phishing by navigating browser tabs but was unable to confirm the vulnerability.

Open windows with normal hrefs with the tag `target="_blank"` can modify `window.opener.location` and replace the parent webpage with something else, even on a different origin.

Impact

While this vulnerability doesn't allow script execution, it does allow phishing attacks that silently replace the parent tab. If the links lack `rel="noopener noreferrer"` attribute, a third party site can change the URL of the source tab using `window.opener.location.assign` and trick the users into thinking that they're still in a trusted page and lead them to enter their sensitive data on the malicious website.

Remedy

- Add `rel=noopener` to the links to prevent pages from abusing `window.opener`. This ensures that the page cannot access the `window.opener` property in Chrome and Opera browsers.
- For older browsers and in Firefox, you can add `rel=noreferrer` which additionally disables the Referer header.

...

8. Apache MultiViews Enabled

Netsparker detected that Apache MultiViews is enabled.

This vulnerability can be used for locating and obtaining access to some hidden resources.

Impact

An attacker can use this functionality to aid in finding hidden files in the site and potentially gather further sensitive information.

Actions to Take

1. Change your server configuration file. A recommended configuration for the requested directory should be in the following format:

<Directory /{YOUR DIRECTORY}>
    Options FollowSymLinks
</Directory>

Remove the MultiViews option from configuration.

9. Cookie Not Marked as HttpOnly

LOW

11

CONFIRMED

11

Netsparker identified a cookie not marked as HTTPOnly.

HTTPOnly cookies cannot be read by client-side scripts, therefore marking a cookie as HTTPOnly can provide an additional layer of protection against cross-site scripting attacks.

Impact

During a cross-site scripting attack, an attacker might easily access cookies and hijack the victim's session.

Actions to Take

1. See the remedy for solution.
2. Consider marking all of the cookies used by the application as HTTPOnly. (After these changes javascript code will not be able to read cookies.)

Remedy

Mark the cookie as HTTPOnly. This will be an extra layer of defense against XSS. However this is not a silver bullet and will not protect the system against cross-site scripting attacks. An attacker can use a tool such as XSS Tunnel to bypass HTTPOnly protection.

10. Cookie Not Marked as Secure

LOW

11

CONFIRMED

11

Netsparker identified a cookie not marked as secure, and transmitted over HTTPS.

This means the cookie could potentially be stolen by an attacker who can successfully intercept and decrypt the traffic, or following a successful man-in-the-middle attack.

Impact

This cookie will be transmitted over a HTTP connection, therefore if this cookie is important (such as a session cookie), an attacker might intercept it and hijack a victim's session. If the attacker can carry out a man-in-the-middle attack, he/she can force the victim to make an HTTP request to steal the cookie.

Actions to Take

1. See the remedy for solution.
2. Mark all cookies used within the application as secure. (If the cookie is not related to authentication or does not carry any personal information, you do not have to mark it as secure.)

Remedy

Mark all cookies used within the application as secure.

Required Skills for Successful Exploitation

To exploit this issue, the attacker needs to be able to intercept traffic. This generally requires local access to the web server or to the victim's network. Attackers need to be understand layer 2, have physical access to systems either as waypoints for the traffic, or have locally gained access to to a system between the victim and the web server.

11. Insecure Frame (External)

LOW

11

CONFIRMED

11

Netsparker identified an external insecure or misconfigured iframe.

Impact

IFrame sandboxing enables a set of additional restrictions for the content within a frame in order to restrict its potentially malicious code from causing harm to the web page that embeds it.

The Same Origin Policy (SOP) will prevent JavaScript code from one origin from accessing properties and functions - as well as HTTP responses - of different origins. The access is only allowed if the protocol, port and also the domain match exactly.

Here is an example, the URLs below all belong to the same origin as http://site.com:

http://site.com
http://site.com/
http://site.com/my/page.html

Whereas the URLs mentioned below aren't from the same origin as http://site.com:

http://www.site.com (a sub domain)
http://site.org (different top level domain) https://site.com (different protocol) http://site.com:8080 (different port)

When the `sandbox` attribute is set, the iframe content is treated as being from a unique origin, even if its hostname, port and protocol match exactly. Additionally, sandboxed content is re-hosted in the browser with the following restrictions:

- Any kind of plugin, such as ActiveX, Flash, or Silverlight will be disabled for the iframe.
- Forms are disabled. The hosted content is not allowed to make forms post back to any target.
- Scripts are disabled. JavaScript is disabled and will not execute.
- Links to other browsing contexts are disabled. An anchor tag targeting different browser levels will not execute.
- Unique origin treatment. All content is treated under a unique origin. The content is not able to traverse the DOM or read cookie information.

When the `sandbox` attribute is not set or not configured correctly, your application might be at risk.

A compromised website that is loaded in such an insecure iframe might affect the parent web application. These are just a few examples of how such an insecure frame might affect its parent:

- It might trick the user into supplying a username and password to the site loaded inside the iframe.
- It might navigate the parent window to a phishing page.
- It might execute untrusted code.
- It could show a popup, appearing to come from the parent site.

Sandbox containing a value of :

- allow-same-origin will not treat it as a unique origin.
- allow-top-navigation will allow code in the iframe to navigate the parent somewhere else, e.g. by changing parent.location.
- allow-forms will allow form submissions from inside the iframe.
- allow-popups will allow popups.
- allow-scripts will allow malicious script execution however it won't allow to create popups.

12. Internal Server Error

Netsparker identified an internal server error.

The server responded with an HTTP status 500, indicating there is a server-side error. Reasons may vary, and the behavior should be analyzed carefully. If Netsparker is able to find a security issue in the same resource, it will report this as a separate vulnerability.

Impact

The impact may vary depending on the condition. Generally this indicates poor coding practices, not enough error checking, sanitization and whitelisting. However, there might be a bigger issue, such as SQL injection. If that's the case, Netsparker will check for other possible issues and report them separately.

Remedy

Analyze this issue and review the application code in order to handle unexpected errors; this should be a generic practice, which does not disclose further information upon an error. All errors should be handled server-side only.

13. Misconfigured Access-Control-Allow-Origin Header

Netsparker detected a possibly misconfigured Access-Control-Allow-Origin header in resource's HTTP response.

Cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) is a mechanism that allows resources on a web page to be requested outside the domain through XMLHttpRequest.

Unless this HTTP header is present, such "cross-domain" requests are forbidden by web browsers, per the same-origin security policy.

Impact

This is generally not appropriate when using the same-origin security policy. The only case where this is appropriate when using the same-origin policy is when a page or API response is considered completely public content and it is intended to be accessible to everyone.

Vulnerabilities

Remedy

If this page is intended to be accessible to everyone, you don't need to take any action. Otherwise please follow the guidelines for different architectures below in order to set this header and permit outside domain.

Apache

- Add the following line inside either the <directory>, <location>, <files> or <virtualhost> sections of your server config (usually located in httpd.conf or apache.conf), or within a .htaccessfile.

Header set Access-Control-Allow-Origin "domain"

IIS6

1. Open Internet Information Service (IIS) Manager
2. Right click the site you want to enable CORS for and go to Properties
3. Change to the HTTP Headers tab
4. In the Custom HTTP headers section, click Add
5. Enter Access-Control-Allow-Origin as the header name
6. Enter domain as the header value

IIS7

- Merge the following xml into the web.config file at the root of your application or site:

<?xml version="1.0" encoding="utf-8" ?>
<configuration>
  <system.webserver>
    <httpProtocol>
      <customHeaders>
        <add name="Access-Control-Allow-Origin" value="domain" />
      </customHeaders>
    </httpProtocol>
  </system.webserver>
</configuration>

ASP.NET

- If you don't have access to configure IIS, you can still add the header through ASP.NET by adding the following line to your source pages:

Response.AppendHeader("Access-Control-Allow-Origin", "domain");

14. Missing X-Frame-Options Header

LOW

11

Netsparker detected a missing X-Frame-Options header which means that this website could be at risk of a clickjacking attack.

The X-Frame-Options HTTP header field indicates a policy that specifies whether the browser should render the transmitted resource within a frame or an iframe. Servers can declare this policy in the header of their HTTP responses to prevent clickjacking attacks, which ensures that their content is not embedded into other pages or frames.

Impact

Clickjacking is when an attacker uses multiple transparent or opaque layers to trick a user into clicking on a button or link on a framed page when they were intending to click on the top level page. Thus, the attacker is "hijacking" clicks meant for their page and routing them to other another page, most likely owned by another application, domain, or both.

Using a similar technique, keystrokes can also be hijacked. With a carefully crafted combination of stylesheets, iframes, and text boxes, a user can be led to believe they are typing in the password to their email or bank account, but are instead typing into an invisible frame controlled by the attacker.

Remedy

- Sending the proper X-Frame-Options in HTTP response headers that instruct the browser to not allow framing from other domains.
 - X-Frame-Options: DENYIt completely denies to be loaded in frame/iframe.
 - X-Frame-Options: SAMEORIGINIt allows only if the site which wants to load has a same origin.
 - X-Frame-Options: ALLOW-FROM URLIt grants a specific URL to load itself in a iframe. However please pay attention to that, not all browsers support this.
- Employing defensive code in the UI to ensure that the current frame is the most top level window.

15. Content Security Policy (CSP) Not Implemented

BEST PRACTICE

11

CSP is an added layer of security that helps to mitigate mainly Cross-site Scripting attacks.

CSP can be enabled instructing the browser with a Content-Security-Policy directive in a response header;

Content-Security-Policy: script-src 'self';

or in a meta tag;

<meta http-equiv="Content-Security-Policy" content="script-src 'self';">

In the above example, you can restrict script loading only to the same domain. It will also restrict inline script executions both in the element attributes and the event handlers. There are various directives which you can use by declaring CSP:

- script-src: Restricts the script loading resources to the ones you declared. By default, it disables inline script executions unless you permit to the evaluation functions and inline scripts by the `unsafe-eval` and `unsafe-inline` keywords.
- base-uri: Base element is used to resolve relative URL to absolute one. By using this CSP directive, you can define all possible URLs which could be assigned to `base-href` attribute of the document.
- frame-ancestors: It is very similar to `X-Frame-Options` HTTP header. It defines the URLs by which the page can be loaded in an `iframe`.
- frame-src / child-src: `frame-src` is the deprecated version of `child-src`. Both define the sources that can be loaded by `iframe` in the page. (Please note that `frame-src` was brought back in CSP 3)
- object-src: Defines the resources that can be loaded by embedding such as Flash files, Java Applets.
- img-src: As its name implies, it defines the resources where the images can be loaded from.
- connect-src: Defines the whitelisted targets for `XMLHttpRequest` and `WebSocket` objects.
- default-src: It is a fallback for the directives that mostly ends with `-src` suffix. When the directives below are not defined, the value set to `default-src` will be used instead:
 - `child-src`
 - `connect-src`
 - `font-src`
 - `img-src`
 - `manifest-src`
 - `media-src`
 - `object-src`
 - `script-src`
 - `style-src`

When setting the CSP directives, you can also use some CSP keywords:

- none: Denies loading resources from anywhere.
- self: Points to the document's URL (domain + port).
- unsafe-inline: Permits running inline scripts.
- unsafe-eval: Permits execution of evaluation functions such as `eval()`.

In addition to CSP keywords, you can also use wildcard or only a scheme when defining whitelist URLs for the points. Wildcard can be used for subdomain and port portions of the URLs:

Content-Security-Policy: script-src https://*.example.com;

Content-Security-Policy: script-src https://example.com.*;

Content-Security-Policy: script-src https;;

It is also possible to set a CSP in Report-Only mode instead of forcing it immediately in the migration period. Thus you can see the violations of the CSP policy in the current state of your web site while migrating to CSP:

Content-Security-Policy-Report-Only: script-src 'self'; report-uri: https://example.com;

Impact

There is no direct impact of not implementing CSP on your website. However, if your website is vulnerable to a Cross-site Scripting attack CSP can prevent successful exploitation of that vulnerability. By not implementing CSP you'll be missing out this extra layer of security.

Actions to Take

- Enable CSP on your website by sending the Content-Security-Policyin HTTP response headers that instruct the browser to apply the policies you specified.
- Apply the whitelist and policies as strict as possible.
- Rescan your application to see if Netsparker identifies any weaknesses in your policies.

Remedy

Enable CSP on your website by sending the Content-Security-Policyin HTTP response headers that instruct the browser to apply the policies you specified.

16. Expect-CT Not Enabled

Netsparker identified that Expect-CT is not enabled.

Certificate Transparency is a technology that makes impossible (or at least very difficult) for a CA to issue an SSL certificate for a domain without the certificate being visible to the owner of that domain.

Google announced that, starting with April 2018, if it runs into a certificate that is not seen in Certificate Transparency (CT) Log, it will consider that certificate invalid and reject the connection. Thus sites should serve certificate that takes place in CT Logs. While handshaking, sites should serve a valid Signed Certificate Timestamp (SCT) along with the certificate itself.

Expect-CT can also be used for detecting the compatibility of the certificates that are issued before the April 2018 deadline. For instance, a certificate that was signed before April 2018, for 10 years it will be still posing a risk and can be ignored by the certificate transparency policy of the browser. By setting Expect-CT header, you can prevent misissued certificates to be used.

Configure your web server to respond with Expect-CT header.

Expect-CT: enforce, max-age=7776000, report-uri="https://ABSOLUTE_REPORT_URL"

Note: We strongly suggest you to use Expect-CT header in report-only modefirst. If everything goes well and your certificate is ready, go with the Expect-CT enforcemode. To use report-only modefirst, omit enforceflag and see the browser's behavior with your deployed certificate.

18. Referrer-Policy Not Implemented

BEST PRACTICE

11

Netsparker detected that no Referrer-Policy header implemented.

Referrer-Policy is a security header designed to prevent cross-domain Referer leakage.

Impact

Referer header is a request header that indicates the site which the traffic originated from. If there is no adequate prevention in place, the URL itself, and even sensitive information contained in the URL will be leaked to the cross-site.

The lack of Referrer-Policy header might affect privacy of the users and site's itself

Actions to Take

In a response header:

Referrer-Policy: no-referrer | same-origin | origin | strict-origin | no-origin-when-downgrading

In a META tag

<meta name="Referrer-Policy" value="no-referrer | same-origin"/>

In an element attribute

Remedy

Please implement a Referrer-Policy by using the Referrer-Policy response header or by declaring it in the meta tags. It's also possible to control referrer information over an HTML-element by using the rel attribute.

19. SameSite Cookie Not Implemented

BEST PRACTICE

11

Cookies are typically sent to third parties in cross origin requests. This can be abused to do CSRF attacks. Recently a new cookie attribute named SameSite was proposed to disable third-party usage for some cookies, to prevent CSRF attacks.

Same-site cookies allow servers to mitigate the risk of CSRF and information leakage attacks by asserting that a particular cookie should only be sent with requests initiated from the same registrable domain.

Remedy

The server can set a same-site cookie by adding the SameSite=...attribute to the Set-Cookieheader. There are three possible values for the SameSiteattribute:

- Lax: In this mode, the cookie will only be sent with a top-level get request.

Set-Cookie: key=value; SameSite=Lax

- Strict: In this mode, the cookie will not be sent with any cross-site usage even if the user follows a link to another website.

Set-Cookie: key=value; SameSite=Strict

- None: In this mode, the cookie will be sent with the cross-site requests. Cookies with SameSite=None must also specify the Secure attribute to transfer them via a secure context. Setting a SameSite=None cookie without the Secure attribute will be rejected by the browsers.

Set-Cookie: key=value; SameSite=None; Secure

20. Subresource Integrity (SRI) Not Implemented

BEST PRACTICE

11

Subresource Integrity (SRI) provides a mechanism to check integrity of the resource hosted by third parties like Content Delivery Networks (CDNs) and verifies that the fetched resource has been delivered without unexpected manipulation.

SRI does this using hash comparison mechanism. In this way, hash value declared in HTML elements (for now only script and link elements are supported) will be compared with the hash value of the resource hosted by third party.

Use of SRI is recommended as a best-practice, whenever libraries are loaded from a third-party source.

Remedy

Using Subresource Integrity is simply to add integrity attribute to the script tag along with a base64 encoded cryptographic hash value.

<script src="https://code.jquery.com/jquery-2.1.4.min.js" integrity="sha384-
R4/ztc4ZlRqWjqIuvf6RX5yb/v90qNGx6fS48N0tRxIGkqveZETq72KgDVJCp2TC" crossorigin="anonymous"></script>

The hash algorithm must be one of sha256, sha384 or sha512, followed by a '-' character.

Remedy

Ensure this is not a false positive. Due to the nature of the issue, Netsparker could not confirm that this file path was actually the real file path of the target web server.

- Error messages should be disabled.
- Remove this kind of sensitive data from the output.

22. An Unsafe Content Security Policy (CSP) Directive in Use

Netsparker detected that one of following CSP directives is used:

- unsafe-eval
- unsafe-inline

By using `unsafe-eval`, you allow the use of string evaluation functions like `eval`.

By using `unsafe-inline`, you allow the execution of inline scripts, which almost defeats the purpose of CSP. When this is allowed, it's very easy to successfully exploit a Cross-site Scripting vulnerability on your website.

Impact

An attacker can bypass CSP and exploit a Cross-site Scripting vulnerability successfully.

24. Cross-site Referrer Leakage through Referrer-Policy

INFORMATION ⓘ

11

CONFIRMED ⓘ

11

Netsparker detected that no-referrer-when-downgrade is used in the Referrer-Policy declaration.

Impact

Referrer leakage is possible between two sites if they use either same or a higher protocol.

11

Netsparker identified an Email Address Disclosure.

Impact

Email addresses discovered within the application can be used by both spam email engines and also brute-force tools. Furthermore, valid email addresses may lead to social engineering attacks.

30. Missing object-src in CSP Declaration

11

Netsparker detected that `object-src` is missed in CSP declaration. It allows the injection of plugins which can execute JavaScript.

31. Multiple Content Security Policy (CSP) Implementation Detected

11

Netsparker detected that multiple CSP declaration types were implemented in the page for backward compatibility.

Impact

Using multiple CSP implementations together might cause CSP directives to not work as intended.

Remedy

Ensure you have nothing sensitive exposed within this file, such as the path of an administration panel. If disallowed paths are sensitive and you want to keep it from unauthorized access, do not write them in the `Robots.txt`, and ensure they are correctly protected by means of authentication.

`Robots.txt` is only used to instruct search robots which resources should be indexed and which ones are not.

The following block can be used to tell the crawler to index files under `/web/` and ignore the rest:

User-Agent: *
Allow: /web/

Disallow: /

Please note that when you use the instructions above, search engines will not index your website except for the specified directories.

If you want to hide certain section of the website from the search engines X-Robots-Tag can be set in the response header to tell crawlers whether the file should be indexed or not:

X-Robots-Tag: googlebot: nofollow
X-Robots-Tag: otherbot: noindex, nofollow

By using X-Robots-Tag you don't have to list these files in your Robots.txt.

It is also not possible to prevent media files from being indexed by putting using Robots Meta Tags. X-Robots-Tag resolves this issue as well.

For Apache, the following snippet can be put into httpd.conf or an .htaccess file to restrict crawlers to index multimedia files without exposing them in Robots.txt

<Files ~ "\.pdf$" >
Don't index PDF files.
Header set X-Robots-Tag "noindex, nofollow"
</Files>

<Files ~ "\.(png|jpe?g|gif)$" >
Don't index image files.
Header set X-Robots-Tag "noindex"
</Files>

Remedy

If you trust all of the subdomains and if this is necessary then you do not need to take any actions. However if this is not the case replace the wildcard with the only subdomain that you trust.
