1. [Possible] Cross-site Request Forgery

LOW 🏳 | 11

Netsparker identified a possible Cross-Site Request Forgery.

CSRF is a very common vulnerability. It's an attack which forces a user to execute unwanted actions on a web application in which the user is currently authenticated.

Impact

Depending on the application, an attacker can mount any of the actions that can be done by the user such as adding a user, modifying content, deleting data. All the functionality that's available to the victim can be used by the attacker. Only exception to this rule is a page that requires extra information that only the legitimate user can know (such as user's password).

Remedy

- Send additional information in each HTTP request that can be used to determine whether the request came from an authorized source. This "validation token" should be hard to guess for attacker who does not already have access to the user's account. If a request is missing a validation token or the token does not match the expected value, the server should reject the request.

- If you are posting form in ajax request, custom HTTP headers can be used to prevent CSRF because the browser prevents sites from sending custom HTTP headers to another site but allows sites to send custom HTTP headers to themselves using XMLHttpRequest.

  - For native XMLHttpRequest (XHR) object in JavaScript; xhr = new XMLHttpRequest();

xhr.setRequestHeader('custom-header', 'valueNULL');
```

For JQuery, if you want to add a custom header (or set of headers) to
a. individual request

```
$.ajax({
    url: 'foo/bar',
    headers: { 'x-my-custom-header': 'some value' }
});
```

b. every request

Remedy

First, ensure this is not a false positive. Due to the nature of the issue, Netsparker could not confirm that this IP address was actually the real internal IP address of the target web server or internal network. If it is, consider removing it.

CLASSIFICATION

SANS Top 25	200

3. Referrer-Policy Not Implemented

BEST PRACTICE 💡 | 11

Netsparker detected that no Referrer-Policy header implemented.

Referrer-Policy is a security header designed to prevent cross-domain Referer leakage.

Impact

Referer header is a request header that indicates the site which the traffic originated from. If there is no adequate prevention in place, the URL itself, and even sensitive information contained in the URL will be leaked to the cross-site.

The lack of Referrer-Policy header might affect privacy of the users and site's itself

Actions to Take

In a response header:

```
Referrer-Policy: no-referrer | same-origin | origin | strict-origin | no-origin-when-downgrading
```

In a META tag

```
<meta name="Referrer-Policy" value="no-referrer | same-origin"/>
```

In an element attribute

```

or

```

```

Remedy

Please implement a Referrer-Policy by using the Referrer-Policy response header or by declaring it in the meta tags. It's also possible to control referrer information over an HTML-element by using the rel attribute.
